

CAPAL 18: Community, Diversity, and Education: Academic Librarianship in Challenging Times

CAPAL/ACBAP

Annual Meeting May 28th – May 31st, 2018

Congress of the Humanities and Social Sciences 2018

University of Regina - Regina, Saskatchewan

CAPAL18 provides an opportunity for academic librarians to critically examine and discuss the ways in which collaboration, respect for differences, and professionalism empower us at a time when the values of our profession are in danger of being eroded, both within our universities and within the wider world. It is time to consider the role of academic librarianship in a changing world and the ways in which academic librarians can challenge the corporatization of our universities and libraries, institutional inequities, and the attempts to deprofessionalize academic librarians.

For full, up-to-date program information, see:

<http://conference.capalibrarians.org/main/> (in English)

<http://conference.capalibrarians.org/principale/> (en français)